Crackdown Coming On Parking Abuses

Monday night's meeting on parking meters was full of hints for people who live and work in downtown Antioch.

For example, it might not be too long before someone comes outside and finds that his car has been towed away.

Violators of parking regulations also can expect to find more tickets on their windows. And they may soon be paying stiffer fines.

The meeting at the village hall attracted the mayor, five of the six trustees, the chief of police, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, and a few others.

"WE FEEL meter parking should be retained and enforced," said Jack Siegmeier, president of the Chamber.

"Those meters presently not working should be fixed," he added. "Perhaps for a trial 2-hour, non-meter parking zone, the meter heads could be removed on Broadway St. and used to fix those not working on Lake and Main streets ... with two-hour parking posted on Broadway."

Siegmeier said that, "to effectively enforce parking restrictions, we feel that a policeman should be on duty downtown at all times during shopping hours. He could not only check meter and lot parking no less than every two hours, beginning no later than 10 a.m., but could also patrol a regular beat downtown."

"THE FINE for parking violations should be increased to $2," Siegmeier said. "If not paid within 48 hours, the fine should be increased to $5. Those fines not paid should be followed-up through the mail."

"Stronger ordinances must be passed by the village to strictly enforce parking policies and tow-away, if necessary," he added.

Siegmeier said the Chamber will work with the village and police department in enforcing the use of employee parking lots.

"Through continued co-operation among the village, police department and Chamber of Commerce, we can solve the parking dilemma," he concluded.

DEFINITE PLANS to solve the parking problems can be expected at 8 p.m. on Monday,

Aug. 16, when the village board holds its next regular meeting.

Trustee Ron Cunningham's safety committee will meet at 7

'Lake Villa Days' Begin Thursday

Celebrations in the area switch to Antioch's neighboring community this week as the annual Lake Villa Days start Thursday at Lehmann Park.

The event, sponsored by the Lake Villa fire department, will last through Sunday.

On the schedule are water fights, rides, games and prizes.

Village Plans Census

How many people live in the village of Antioch. The signs on the outskirts say 3,700 but Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz believes that number has grown to between 4,100 and 4,200.

At her request, the village board Monday night authorized Mrs. Sterbenz to "start the wheels in progress" for a village census early next June.

The last census was taken four years ago, in 1972.

The new census, Mrs. Sterbenz pointed out, will pay off in state income taxes and motor fuel taxes, which are based on population counts.

Burglars Try Break-ins At 3 Stores

Burglars made one break-in and attempted two others in Antioch Monday night.

Chief Jack Wells said Tuesday that the intruders got inside of Sorenson's Bait Shop, at Routes 59 and 173, unplugged the burglar alarm but apparently didn't take anything of value.

From there, police suspect the same persons broke a window at nearby Don's Drive-In, then went across the street to the Western Auto Store.

Chief Wells said an attempt was made to break into Western Auto, but the store's burglar alarm went off and lights came on. Police rushed to the scene but the would-be thieves had already made their getaway.

p.m. next Monday to discuss Siegmeier's suggestions and come up with recommendations.

Meanwhile, trustee Mike Haley, as head of the village public relations committee, said he will prepare a report on parking ordinances now in effect.

Bill Patterson, a Main St. businessman and member of the Chamber, said the parking problem has become worse since Officer Fred Herdt retired quite a few months ago. Herdt walked the downtown, checking on parking violations.

PATTERSON SAID his own personal survey of businessmen indicated that "the customers are not the culprits. Rather, some store owners, employees and people living in apartments above the stores" are over-parking in the spaces the businessmen feel are precious to them.

"I understand the point of view of people living downtown," Patterson said. "They've rented an apartment and feel they should have a place to park. But stiffer fines and enforcement will force them to look elsewhere."

Chief of Police Jack Wells said, "About six months ago the consensus was that the meters would be phased out and removed, and that's what we operated on."

Now that businessmen have voted to keep the meters, Wells said police are checking them regularly.

Mayor Robert C. Wilton said: "I hate to see strict enforcement on shoppers. If you do, you're going to chase them away. I believe in the warning ticket."

Patterson said that to keep Antioch's business district vital, off-street parking is the eventual solution.

"I think we're going to run over $40 million in sales in this village this year," he said.

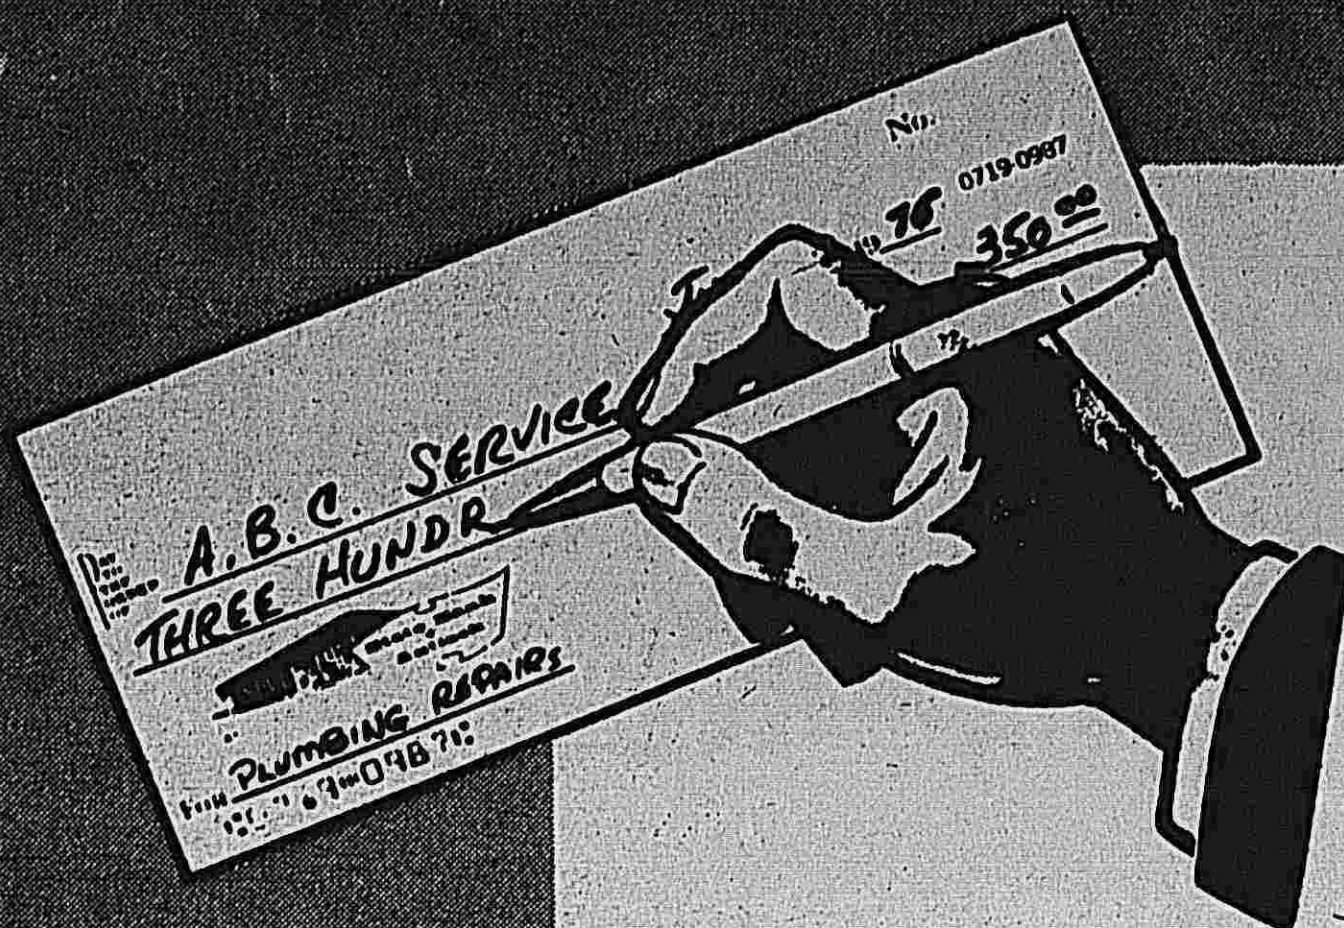

"WE LOOK around us," Siegmeier said, "and see business districts in large communities dying. We have good customer relations in Antioch and we're going to do everything we can as a Chamber to keep it that way, because once you lose it you can't get it back."

Patterson said there are habitual offenders, such as trucks that park on Main St. all day long. He said the need for customer parking is going to increase in the future. He mentioned that DeGraff's of Grayslake will be opening a shoe store in downtown Antioch in October. The firm will move into the store vacated by Unfinished Business, which has relocated at Bernie's Corner, near North Ave. and Main St.

Patterson mentioned that the McDonald restaurant chain has been eyeing Antioch and "if they come into town, every child and teenager in the surrounding area will want to come to McDonald's."

Patterson also suggested that if the Moose Lodge's Friday night fish fries are filling the parking lot east of Broadway, perhaps the lodge could ask its members to use the lot west of Broadway.

Haley assured the Chamber representatives that the village officials "will hammer away at your requests" in an effort to find solutions.

the SOVEREIGN STATE of AFFAIRS

BARRY GOLDWATER

EPA Loused Up Auto Industry

By SEN. BARRY GOLDWATER

According to legislative intentions, the Environmental Protection Agency was created to promote cleaner air and water and to protect the environmental Protection Agency was created to promote cleaner air and water and to protect the environment in all feasible and reasonable ways.

It was not set up for the purpose of telling the American people what they could or could not do according to the agency's self-made standards.

Nor was EPA, with or without the help of Ralph Nader, created to build automobiles. Nonetheless, for years EPA has been around with its "made-in-Washington" blueprints for the carmakers in Detroit.

WHEN THEY met resistance, the regulators finally rested their case on an attempt to force U.S. automakers to adopt "catalytic converters" for all new cars, on EPA's assurance that this was the way to reduce exhaust emissions.

Detroit finally got tired of the argument and equipped about 85 percent of the 1975 cars with the controversial converters which, incidentally, raised the price of a car by approximately $320.

Skeptics who pointed to flaws in the new device were quickly overridden because of the "heat" from Washington and because EPA officials were far from receptive to criticism of any kind.

THEY INSISTED that the catalytic converters had to be "standard equipment" on all 1975 automobiles. Detroit went ahead when even their pleas for slowing down the schedule were rejected.

The environmentalists had the power in this instance and they used it all. They overpowered not only the automobile industry, but also independent authorities such as the National Academy of Sciences, which also warned against rushing full speed ahead on the converter program.

But EPA won - and then the fun began. All the problems predicted by the skeptics developed, as well as some problems they hadn't even thought of. It almost seemed as though the converter had been waiting to be installed in a car just to show how much trouble it could really cause.

THE CARMAKERS who met EPA's deadline soon learned that leaded gasolines damage the converter's mechanism. They also learned - and this was the clincher - that the converters emitted sulphate mists, which are potentially more harmful to human health than the exhaust emissions they were supposed to prevent.

Only now, as this is written, have the EPA bureaucrats admitted that they bought a "lemon" when they began promoting the converter as a prime antipollution device.

Russell Train, director of the EPA, didn't say it that way (bureaucrats never admit costly errors); rather, he announced that EPA was relaxing and revising its emission standards, so the converters won't be needed on 1976 model cars. Not a word was said about the sulfuric acid emissions produced by the converters that made wide-scale use too dangerous even to contemplate.

There is no way to estimate the cost of this goof-up on the part of the EPA regulators. Some people figure it runs into billions of dollars. But one thing is absolutely certain - the cost to the depressed automobile industry has been troublesome and heavy.

THIS IS one of the latest and perhaps one of the most telling examples of the way Uncle Sam can louse up an entire industry with its Big-Brother-knows-best approach to solving the nation's problems.

The EPA's obsession with the installation of catalytic converters should serve as a warning to Congress to act cautiously toward any other such proposed measures that could create even more bureaucratic monstrosities.

We have enough economic problems at present. What we don't need is another bureaucracy like the EPA, which has an affinity for stupid decisions that cost the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars.

Letter

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the businesses and people of Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst for supporting our trip to Minneapolis.

Throughout the summer, the young people of the Antioch Community High School Marching Sequoias have traveled over 1,000 miles and performed for nearly one million people.

During this time, I feel our students represented the communities in an outstanding manner. I am proud to work with such a fine group, and feel the communities should also be honored by the accomplishments of their children.

Sincerely,

Editorial Comment

Fast-Talking Sales People

This summer many of us are being approached by door-to-door salespeople whose products range from encyclopedias and china to floorscrubbers.

You should be wary of disreputable salespeople, and heed the following tips for self-protection.

- Before letting the salesperson enter your home, find out exactly what he or she is selling. Ask to see his credentials. If you don't need the product, don't let the salesperson in.

- Compare the salesperson's price with retail store prices.

- Don't be afraid to say NO.

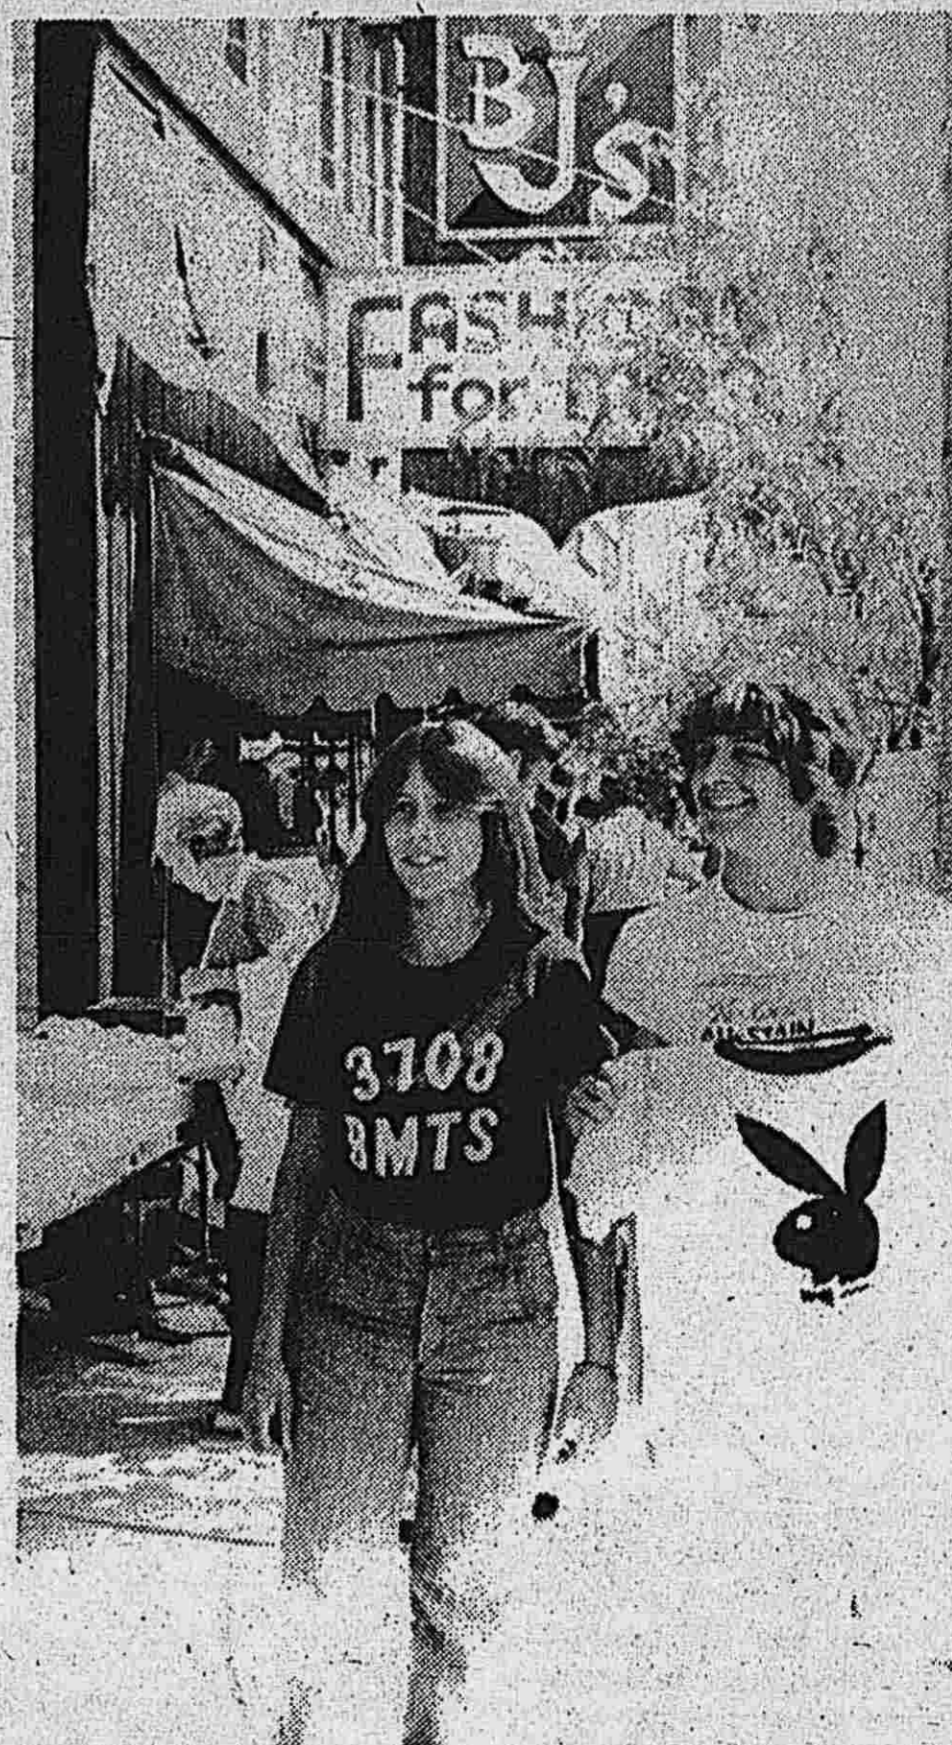

- If you are interested in buying, get the name, address and phone number of the company. Also get the name, address, and phone number of the salesperson. Call your local Better Business Bureau to see if there are complaints against the company.

- Don't be pressured into signing a contract; give yourself at least one full day to think it over first. A lot of fast-talkers have visited our office in the past year and they want our signature "now," because tomorrow they'll be in another town. We make it a policy to tell them "no thanks."

- Don't sign anything until you understand clearly what you are signing.

BE AWARE that the contract you sign is a legal and binding document. Federal regulation provides for a three-day "cooling off" period in which you can cancel your contract, however, if you do not cancel within those three days, according to the terms of the contract, you will be held for the full amount of your purchase.

- Don't let the salesperson fool you by stating that his or her magazine will only cost you "pennies a day." Ten pennies a day is $36.50 per year; which means that a three-year subscription will cost you more than $100.

T-SHIRTS, OF COURSE, are really in ... and Martin Witt compared the Maxwell Street Days selection at BJ's Fashions for Men and BJ's Closet with the T-shirt worn by shopper Maureen Traves.

A newspaper dedicated to people marching to their own drummers.

Deputy Sheriff William Rosing of Antioch is conducting a search for the driver of a vampire machine that crashed into a buggy north of Antioch, injuring a Wisconsin man named C. Friedler, and then speeding away. Friedler was found lying alongside the road and was brought to Antioch for medical attention. His injuries are not serious.

A pie-eating contest took place during the R.A.M. picnic at Sylvan Beach, Channel Lake. The pies were 12 inches in diameter and two inches thick, and packed with blueberries. There were 450 people watching the 12 contestants. After scraping chunks of blueberries and crust from two men who had finished their pies, it was discovered that it was Adolph Kucera and Charles Filstead who had won. Their prizes included a free trip to the cleaners.

WILLIAM E. BROOK, center, president of the State Bank of Antioch, purchased the first new Village of Antioch flag, to be flown on the State Bank premises. Marilyn Sterbenz, left, village clerk, and Kathy Toff, right, assisted Mr. Brook with the flag, designed by Donald Evans in 1967 in a contest held at Antioch High School. Originally designed by Evans as an indoor flag, it was copied and reproduced by a flag company for outdoor use at the request of Mrs. Sterbenz. The new village flag can be purchased at the village hall for $75. The Antioch village board plans to present designer Evans, now a resident of Murphysboro, Ill., with the new flag commemorating the foundation of the village in 1892.

Helen Borovicka of Reeves Drug Store was operated on at Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan a week ago, but she's back home now and recuperating nicely.

We're not sure when Helen will be back at work (it would be today if she had her way) but at least we hope it's real soon. Meanwhile, the store's in good hands as long as her pals Ruth and Edna are there.

They sure have a nice young lady working for them, too. We mean Sandra Stadick, who just completed a fine record at Antioch High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Polley took the place of L.O. Bright, 1936 superintendent, by pre-

Antioch Swimmers Win Invitational

By CAROL BERRY

For the first year since Antioch has had an invitational swim meet, the State Bank "Seals" can say: "We're No. 1."

The meet has been held for several years in connection with the Lions Club Picnic at the Aqua Center. This year, on Sunday, Antioch placed first with 269½ points, followed by Brentwood with 235, Libertyville, Kenosha and Belvidere followed in that order.

Twenty-one meet records were set, including 10 by the following Antioch swimmers:

SHELLY VOLLING in the 12 and under freestyle.
Frank Bessette in the 18 and under freestyle.
George Bessette in the 12 and under backstroke and individual medley.

Dave Berry in the 18 and under individual medley and butterfly.

Ted White in the 12 and under butterfly.

Lisa Dunn in the 12 and under breaststroke.

John Bellucci in the 12 and under, two-length breaststroke.

Carol Berry, Trina Spletz, Jack Fields and Phil Jaworek in the 16 and under freestyle relay.

THROUGHOUT 47 events, the Antioch swimmers took 20 first places.

The boy and girl "swimmers of the meet" awards were given to Lynn Cilik and Joe Manning.

"They both worked diligently and were great assets to the team," Coach Marty Berry said.

"To sum it all up, the Antioch team compacted its unsurpassable spirit and swimming ability so they could add the 1976 Antioch Invitational trophy to their growing collection of merits," Coach Berry said.

By JANET MILLER

I figured that last week's column was really the "pits," but then I received more letters than ever!

Thanks a lot for your questions and kind words of inspiration! It is encouraging to know that I'm not sitting here every Friday night with my dictionary, eraser and wastebasket in vain!

And it certainly makes spending hours of searching for "R's" "E's" and all of the rest on my "trusty" typewriter more than worthwhile! (I type about 9 words per minute.)

It has been an extremely busy and disorganized week for me, but the loose ends of my "unfinished business" are finally beginning to come together and I should be reorganized and settled down within a few days. So let us get started:

Q. I BOUGHT a chest of drawers at an old second-hand furniture shop a few years ago and have never been able to use it because the drawers don't slide in and out easily. In fact, they are a nuisance because once I open them, I have to push and maneuver them with great effort to get them closed again. What can I do? W.S., Lake Villa

A. The problem, of course, is that the drawers are too big for the openings. They stick because of a warping, however slight, in the sides of the drawers. Probably the best thing you can do is to plane or sand some wood from the top and/or bottom of the sides. Go about this cautiously, trying the drawer often for obvious reasons. However, before going into surgery of this sort, try soaping the sides and bottoms of the drawer. If it doesn't help, at least you will be able to get a fair idea of where you should sand by where the soap gets scraped off. I hope you will be able to enjoy your dresser now!

Q. I ENJOY your column, but I have one conclusion to make. The art of finishing furniture is time consuming and tedious work. I'm a mother of three and work 35 hours a week. I don't have time to polish my furniture, much less linseed oil it. Do you know of an effective way for a working mother to have a good looking maple kitchen table with a strong finish?

T.L., Antioch

A. I am assuming it has "distress marks" with no fascinating history behind them in the tabletop. If the table has been stained in the beginning, and there are scratches with bare wood showing through, the color can usually be touched up with a thinned mixture of artist's oil colors, depending on what shade of maple you are trying to duplicate, Venetian Red (Indian Red), Yellow Ochre, Lt. and perhaps a dash of Black in the right portions mixed together and thinned a lot with turpentine should give you satisfactory color match.

Let this dry thoroughly before going on. An hour or so should do it, especially if you blow on it a lot.

Next, you will apply the clear finish. I would recommend using a "polyurethane" in a spray form. The surface to be sprayed must be horizontal. Spray the edges first, including the ones where leaves go when opened. Then spray the top from side to side, moving away from your edge to the far edge. Working this way, the finish will go on evenly.

If you work from the far edge to your side, the wind from the can may hit the area you have just sprayed, causing uneven drying and dull spots. When you are finished, check the edges for drips or sags, wiping them lightly with your finger. Wait 12 hours, then wipe with 3/0 steelwool in smooth, even strokes going with the grain.

Furniture finishing and re-finishing, whether hobby or necessity, can be very enjoyable and satisfying, and there are many, many shortcuts and time savers that can be applied if schedules are hectic and every minute seems to be filled.

I get a lot of thinking done as I'm stripping a piece of furniture, because it is almost like "robot" work and this leaves my mind free to wander or ponder!

I save a lot of my sanding for when I am under stress or mad at somebody. You can relieve a lot of tension by taking it out on a neglected piece of furniture.

Football season is rapidly approaching, ladies, so start getting your projects together. I have found that doing my sanding projects at this time of the year is a little more creative than soaking my husband's socks in a gallon of bleach overnight and then putting them right in the dryer.

Thanks again for the letters and I'll see you next week. Please address inquiries and comments to Furniture Clinic, c/o Antioch News, P.O. Box 5, Antioch IL 60002

What Next?

'Midnight Madness'

"Midnight Madness" will enjoy its annual fling in Antioch on Thursday, Aug. 19.

It will be the Chamber of Commerce retail committee's final big event of the summer.

This year the reigning Miss Illinois will be part of the program. She is Betsy Joy Jamison of Mundelein, who will compete for the title of Miss America in Atlantic City, N.J. in September.

The Scarlet Knights drum and bugle corps will perform here Aug. 19, there will be free popcorn for store customers and, of course, a pajama contest will be held.

Miss Illinois will be located on the cannon platform behind the water tower. She will autograph her photo, supplied by the Chamber to customers.

The Scarlet Knights will perform on Broadway beginning at 7 p.m.

The pajama contest will begin at 10:45 p.m. at the water tower. All participants will receive a coupon for a free ice cream cone at White's Ice Cream Parlor.

Stores will reopen at 7 p.m. for their final summer clearance sale.

The hardest thing to disguise is your feelings when you put a lot of relatives on the train for home.

Retirement takes all the fun out of Saturdays.

Jaycees' Dunk Tank Made a Big Splash!

The Antioch Jaycees' "dunk tank" was a tremendous success during Maxwell Street Days and not just because Bill Georgeson showed up in an orange striped shirt, bloomer-type pants, a yellow and black hat, chrome-rimmed sun glasses, white shoes and his Sherlock Holmes pipe.

Georgeson, owner of the World Famous Village Pub, was just one of the local celebrities who agreed to sit in the tank and

Motocross Event in Spring Grove

Maplehurst Cycle Park in Spring Grove will be the scene for the first Lower Great Lakes Area qualifying event in the Can-Am National Amateur Motocross championship series on Sunday.

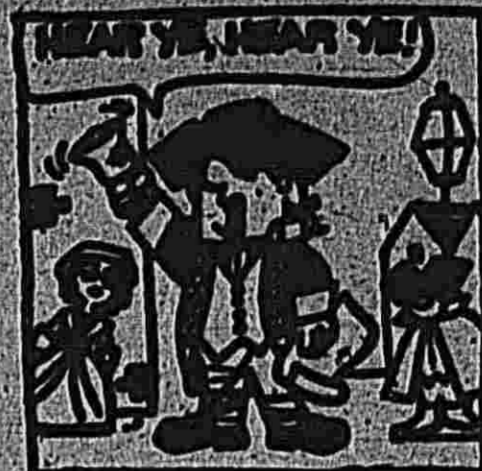

Riding will be 15 year old Mark Barnett of Bridgeview, IL., defending national champion in the 125cc class.

The Slo-Pokes motorcycle club of Janesville, Wis., which is hosting the event, said top amateur motocross riders who have survived district-level elimination throughout Illinois, lower Michigan, and Indiana will battle for Lower Great Lakes Area titles.

take the plunge for the Jaycees.

Jaycee Bill Groeninger, chairman of the dunk tank and corn roast project, said "It was three times as successful as we anticipated. And the only reason was because of the participation of the people in this town."

Others who took their turns in the tank included Police Chief Jack Wells, Village Trustee Mike Haley, Dan Haley, Joe Huber, Bill Brook, Walt Shepard, Earl (Scotty) Lowe and Mike Gantar.

THE "DUNKEES" sat in a cage, on a platform. People who accurately threw baseballs at a target, caused the platform to tilt and send the "celebrity" splashing into the water tank.

Oh, we almost forgot, Tom Homan took a turn in the tank, too. Boy, are we sorry we missed that one!

Gantar, a new attorney in town, in Ted Larson's office, had to be lured into the tank. Groeninger said the crowd raised $55 to entice him and only under the stipulation that Gantar would stay only long enough for Bill Brook to throw five baseballs at the small target, from behind the barricade. The barricade was about 30 feet from the tank.

Once in the tank, imagine Mike's surprise when Groeninger and Chuck Spiller lifted the barricade and moved it to within a foot of the target.

Even at that range, Mr. Brook missed on his first two throws. (On purpose, just to build the suspense, of course.) Then, his third toss hit the target and Mike got soaked.

"LOOK AT MY shoes, they're ruined," Gantar was quoted as saying, as he took them off and emptied the water out of his footwear.

"My gosh," said Brook, "Your father owns three shoe stores!"

Sharon Harrison, wife of one of the Jaycees, was in the crowd Friday night and the boys raised $25 to lure her into the cage. By popular demand, Sharon finally conceded, even though she had just been to the beauty shop. She stayed in the cage for a half-hour and came out soaking wet, her hairdo completely ruined, of course.

"WE SOLD 1,000 ears of corn," Groeninger said. "Dan Haley let us use his Limerick Lounge parking lot, which was a perfect spot for us. Friday night, it was wall-to-wall people. It will be an annual project for us now."

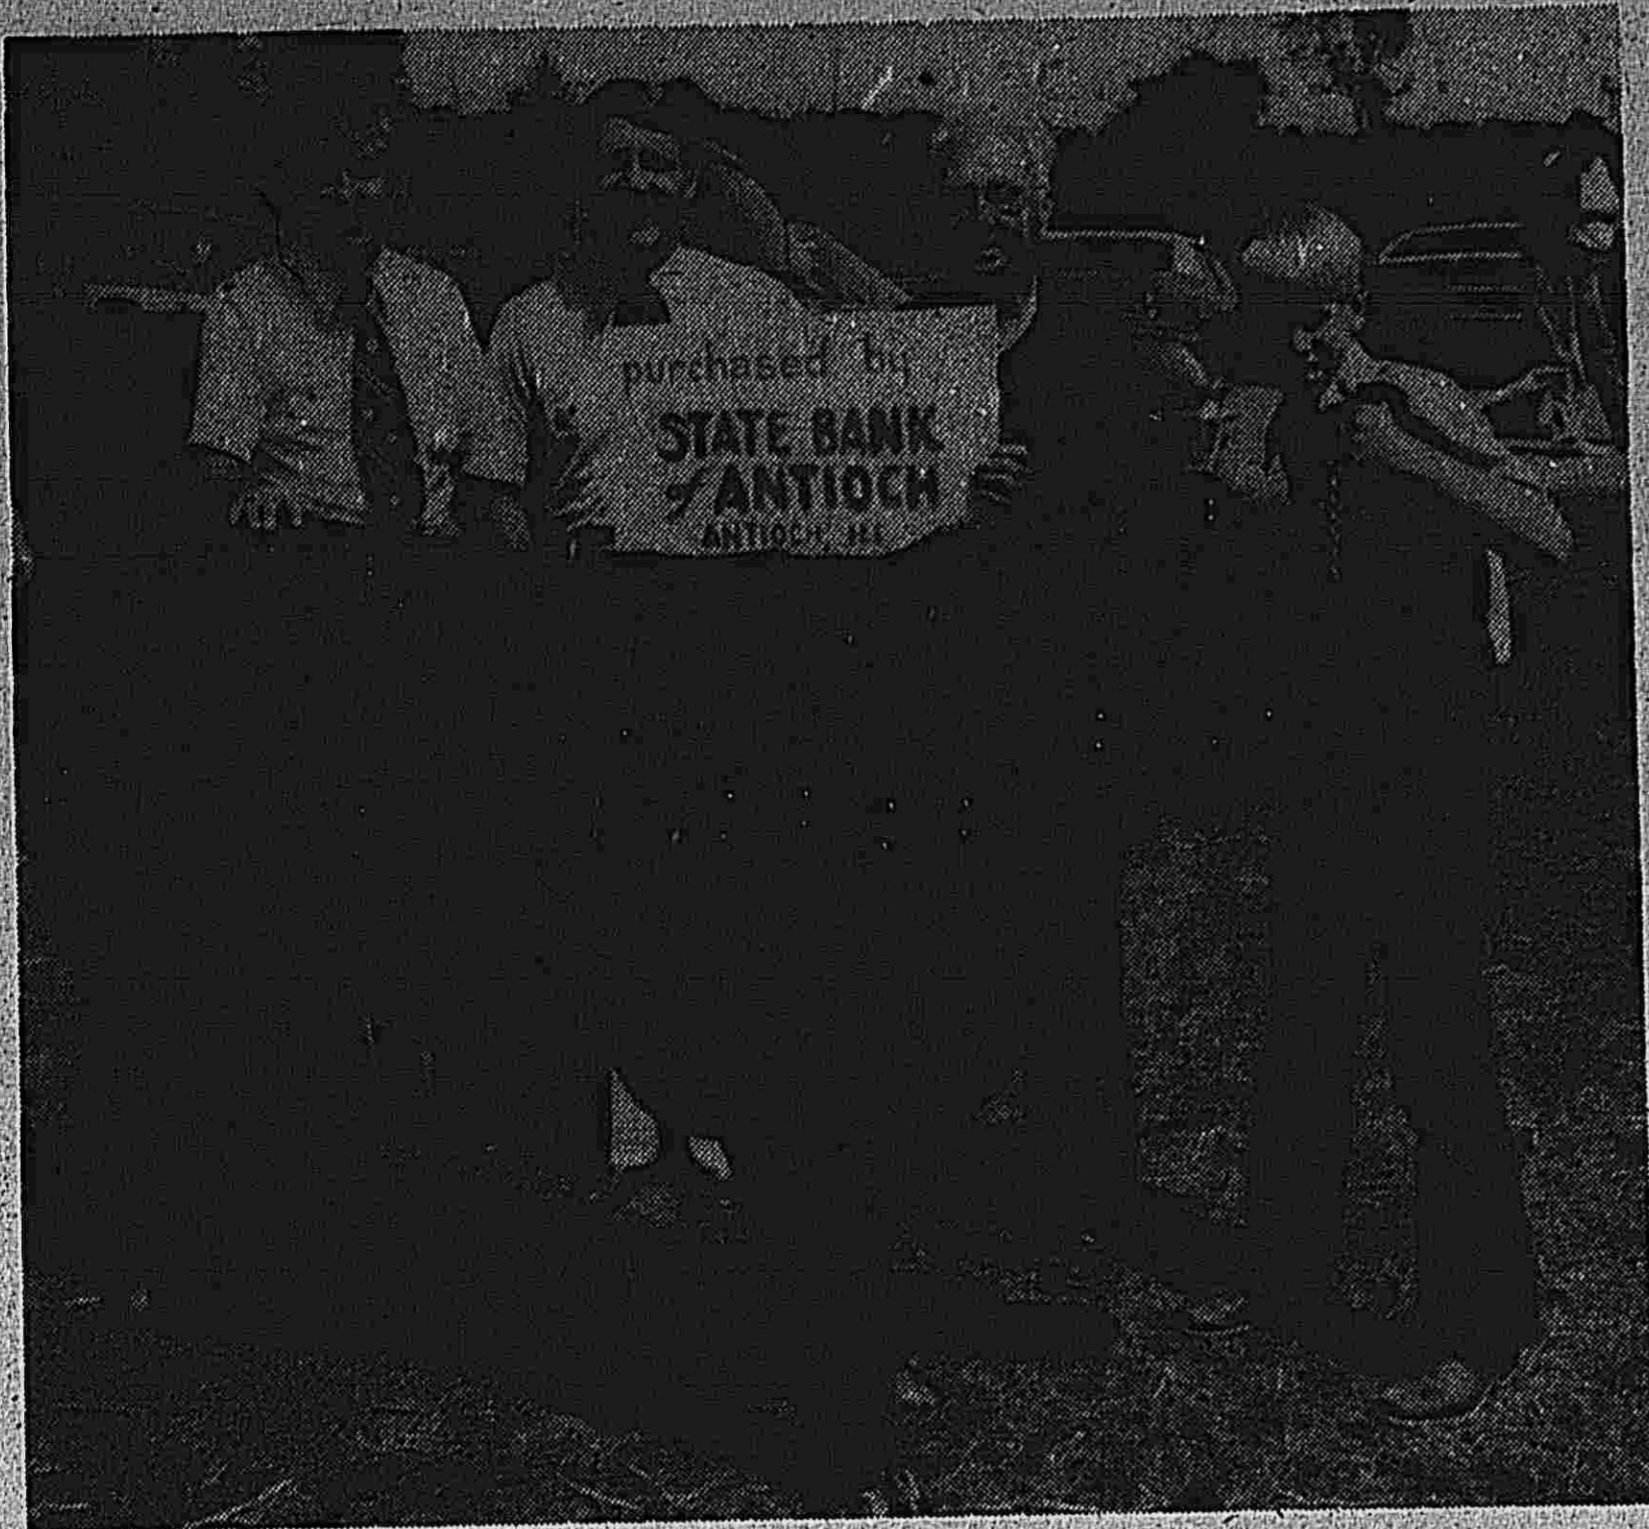

"I'm very proud of this town," Groeninger added. "Without a doubt, it's the greatest town in the world. We get fantastic participation from people."

The Jaycees should be proud of themselves, too. They have new leadership (Paul Kinas is president this year), new spirit, and the kind of members who will stage excellent projects to raise money for places in town where it's needed.

VILLAGE TRUSTEE MIKE HALEY was soaked when he emerged from the Jaycees' dunk tank during Maxwell Street Days. Jack Wells Jr.

'Pajama Game' Delightful, Entertaining

Antioch's PM&L Theatre has done it again.

The talented thespians staged a delightful and entertaining version of the musical comedy, "Pajama Game," last weekend.

The run will be completed this weekend. Dates and times of performances appear in an adjoining story.

"Pajama Game" is an established musical hit and the cast had enough talent to handle the well-written comedy lines. A special treat was the several song and dance duets that extracted enthusiasm and applause from the audience.

The story revolves around a labor dispute in a pajama factory in Cedar Rapids, Ia. (It was nice to know that the Cedar Rapids factory superintendent's office was worldly enough to include a large State Bank of Antioch calendar on its wall.)

The management's representative, played by Lou Jones, falls in love with the head of the union's grievance committee, Mary Lou Davies.

PM&L Adds Matinee On Sunday

To accommodate the additional people desiring to see "The Pajama Game," PM&L's current musical comedy, a Sunday matinee performance of the show has been added.

Thus, there will be four performances this weekend - one each on Friday and Saturday, and two on Sunday.

Curtain time for the evening shows is 8:30, and 2:30 for the Sunday matinee. All performances are at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch.

"The Pajama Game" was enthusiastically received by the audiences which saw the musical last weekend. The PM&L production is directed by Pat Jamison, remembered by Antioch theatergoers for her outstanding work in a number of productions during the past year.

The large and talented cast is made up of rich mixture of old-timers and newcomers to the PM&L stage. The zestful and imaginative musical numbers are executed to the accompaniment of an impressive instrumental group composed of Tracy Teltz, piano; Chris Lindberg, flute; Caroline Nauer, clarinet, and Frank Gaughan, strings and percussion.

Last weekend's audiences and critics seemed especially delighted by the show's music. Many of the numbers are than-suitable co-star for Jones. Besides, she is very pretty and dresses in most attractive clothes. Mary Lou can sing, too.

Unfortunately, someone put a little too much rouge on her cheeks ... but that was her only flaw.

ADAM WEISE and Susan Hale are strong in their supporting roles and George Blanksten of Antioch is very good in the role of the boss.

The union is fighting for a 7½ cent raise and Jones, the plant supervisor, finally gets it for them. He also falls in love with the head of the grievance committee ... wins her, loses her, and then re-wins her.

Pat Jamison, a well-known PM&L star, did a fine job of directing and choreography. The song and dance numbers are excellent, especially when they feature Susan Hale, who plays a scatter-brained secretary, and a pair of amateur actresses who perform as professionals, Dee Baum and Mary Brownell.

Don Beveroth has a comical role and that Antioch veteran is always "just right" in such a part.

The music is excellent, of course, because it is directed by talented Mary Chris LaKome and features Tracy Teitz on the piano.

"Once-a-Year-Day," "Steam Heat," and "Hernando's Hideaway" are just three of the outstanding numbers.

You'll really enjoy this delightful show if you turn off your TV set this weekend and get to downtown Antioch.

Missed My Chance For an 'Oscar'

By JERRY PFARR

I missed my chance of a lifetime Sunday and I've been miserable about it ever since. A mock Revolutionary War battle was being held inside the Antioch Little League field, with a group of British Redcoats exchanging fire with American Minutemen.

The historical buffs came from Chicago's south suburbs, and Joliet, to stage their pageant for the thousands attending the annual Lions Club Farmers Picnic.

THEY WORE authentic uniforms and fired blanks from authentic weapons of the 18th century. It was a colorful spectacle and attracted youngsters and adults alike to the Little League bleachers.

Hundreds also watched from outside the fence that surrounds the baseball field. Bill Brook had seen them perform at Allendale school in Lake Villa and personally arranged for their visit here on the day of the big picnic.

BECAUSE I HAD to take photographs for the newspaper, I was the only one inside the field except for the soldiers.

The only spectator who paid any attention to me was Dale Frasch, who shouted from outside the fence:

"Hey, Pfarr, pull in your stomach!"

After it was all over, someone pointed out to me:

"You blew it. You missed your chance. When the guns were being fired, why didn't you pull a dying act? You could have made believe you were hit, clutched your chest, spun around three times and fallen to the ground. You would have received a tremendous round of applause and you would have been a hero to all of Antioch."

If only I had thought of it at the time. What a performance I could have given!

IT WAS a crowd-pleasing event and a colorful climax to a great Lions Club picnic, which attracted thousands. They devoured 3,000 of Jo-Pat's chickens and 2,500 ears of corn.

During the mock war, a soldier occasionally would be struck by a "shell." There were comedians in the crowd, of course. Whenever a Redcoat bit the dust, some of the spectators cheered. When an American fell, they booed.

Two British soldiers fell and their camp followers (nice girls who were playing the part of the Revolutionary War's naughty girls) ran out and helped the limping men off the battlefield.

Apparently they were only hit in the legs.

"They're shooting too low!" shouted a wit in the bleachers, earning the best laugh of the day from those sitting around him.

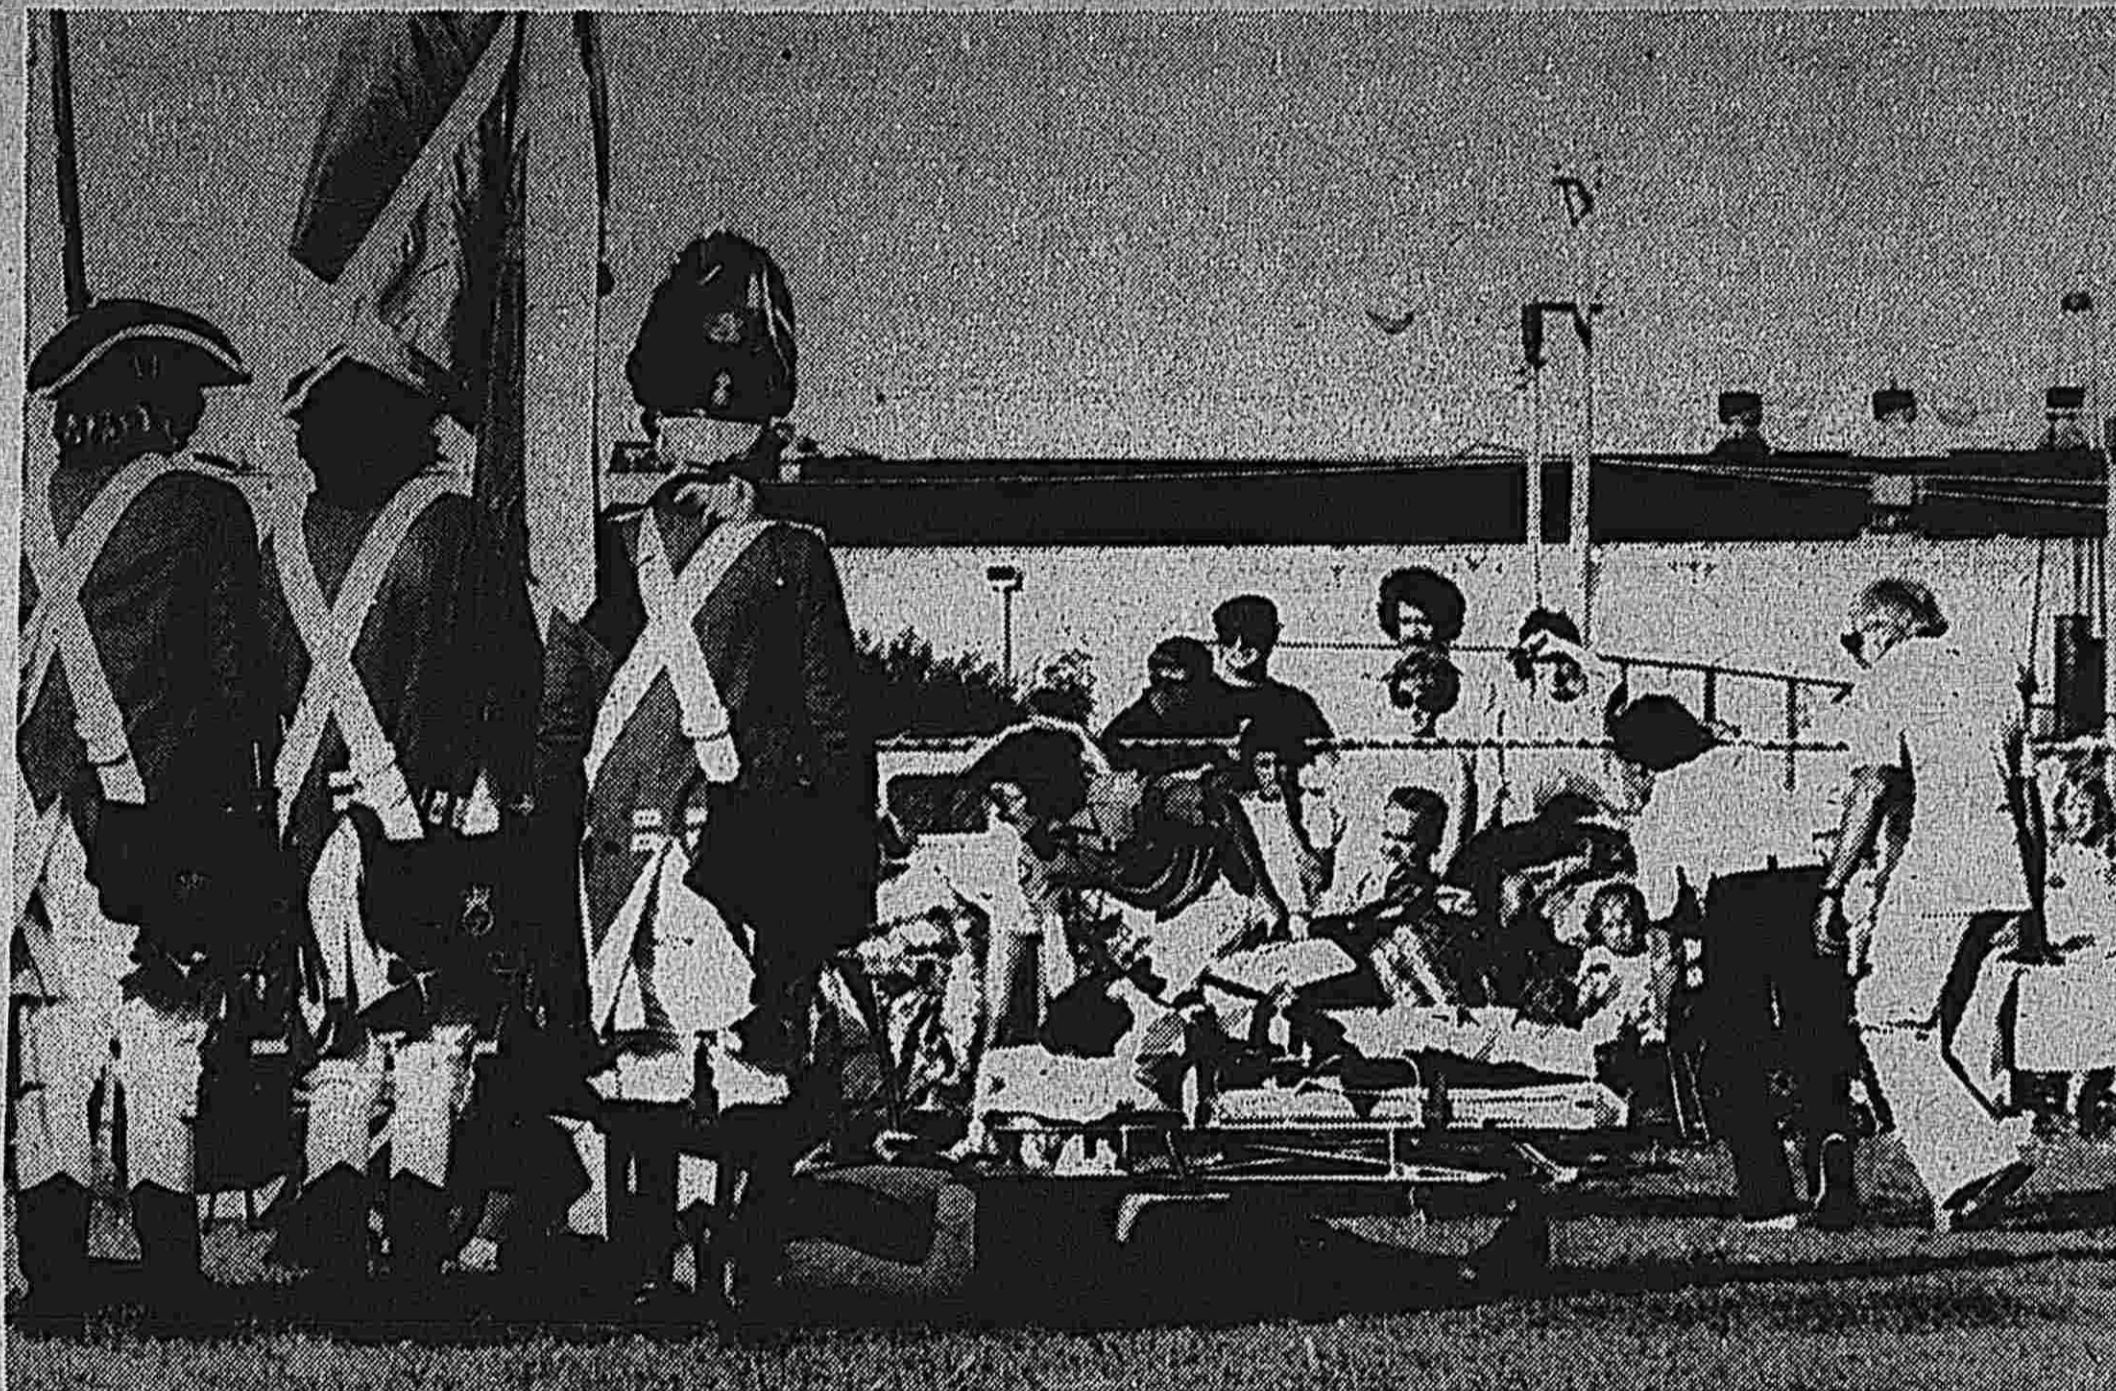

WHAT A FINISH to the mock battle! This time the British win and all the Minutemen are sprawled on the ground, wounded.

We hear a siren and up comes an Antioch Rescue Squad truck.

Ev Oftedahl and other squadmen dash onto the field and begin carrying off the Americans on stretchers.

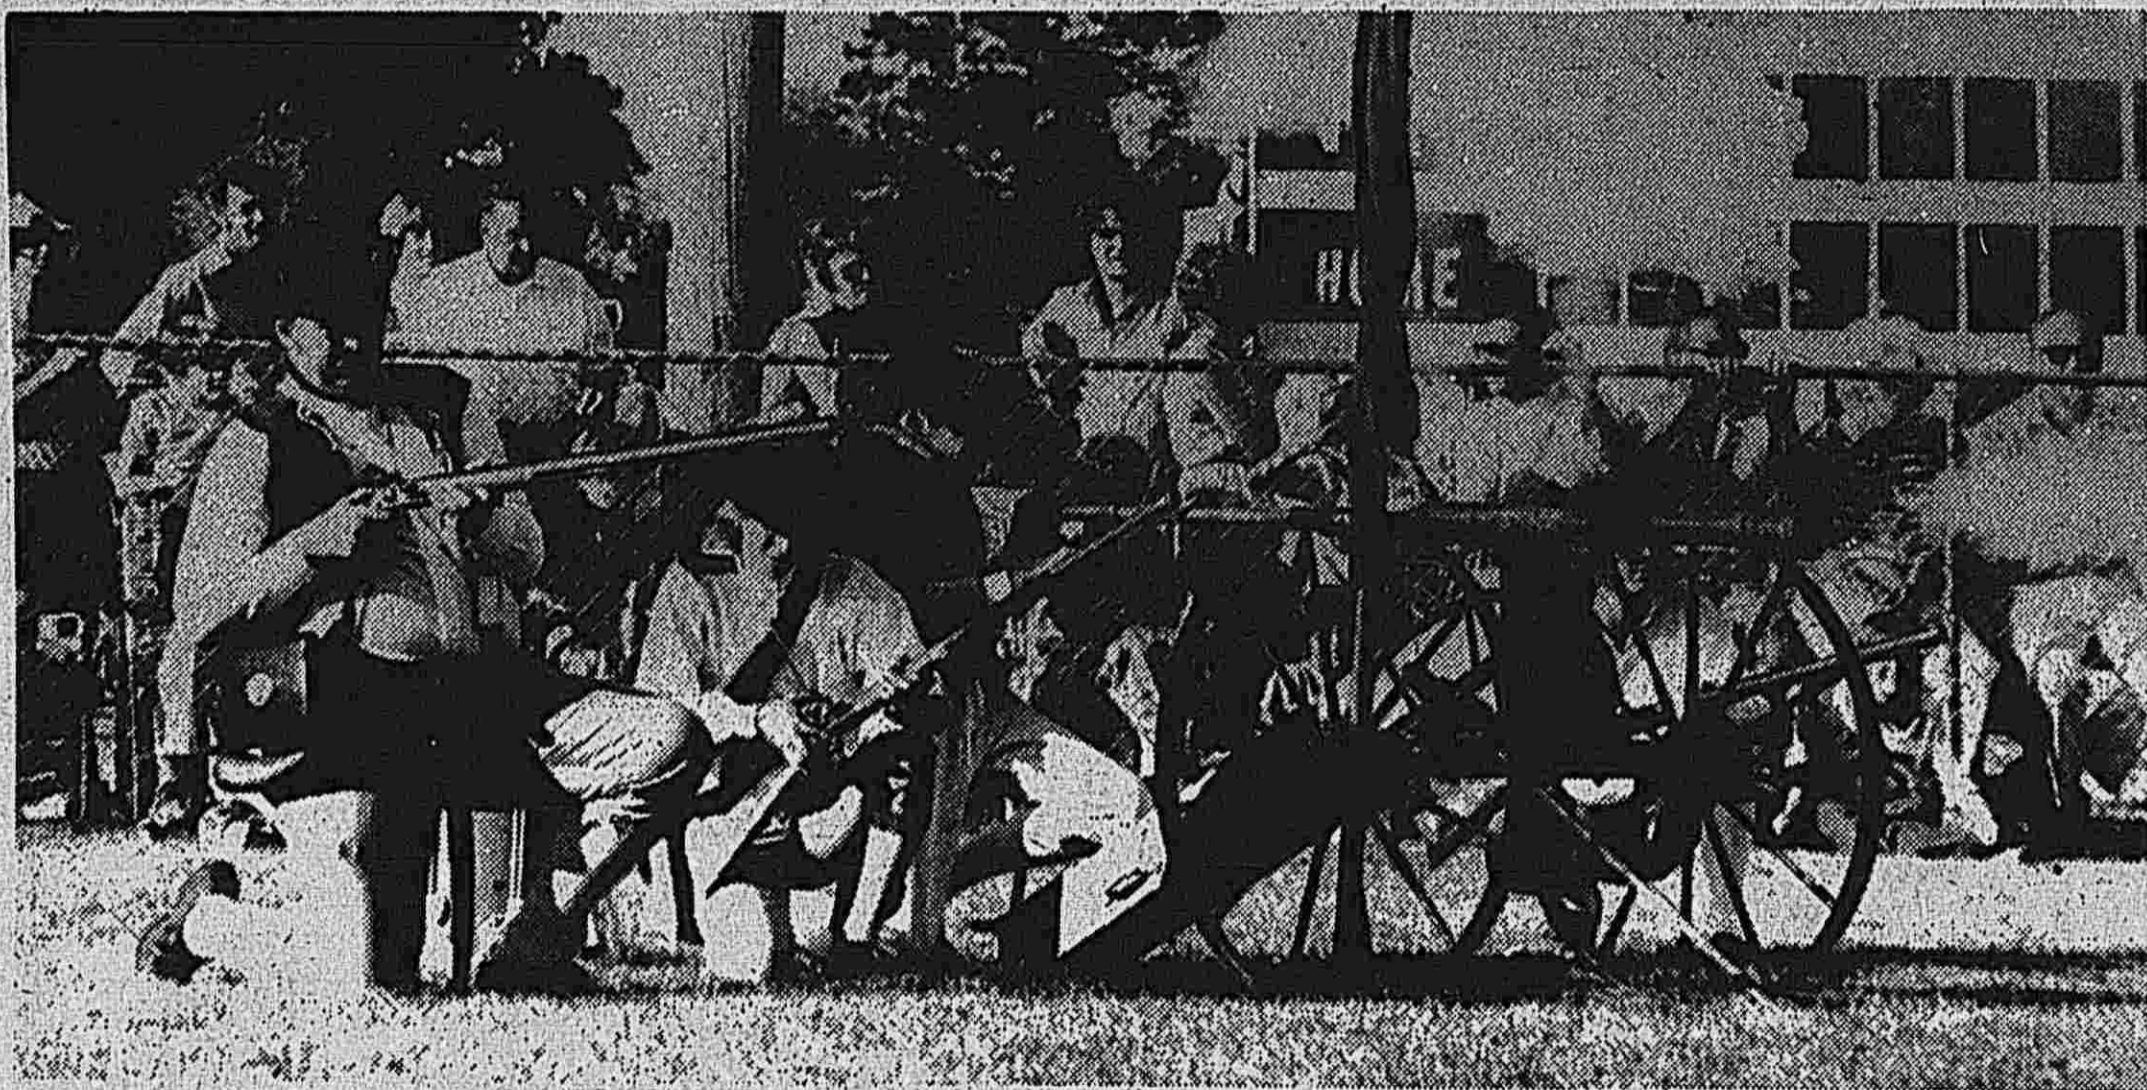

Only Antioch could come up with an idea like that!

And it was the first time ever that the Rescue Squad was 200 years late for a call.

IN A SURPRISING CLIMAX to Sunday's mock Revolutionary War at the Little League field, Antioch Rescue Squad members rushed in and carried off the wounded on stretchers. From right to left: Ev Oftedahl, Jim Koppa and Pete Tomaschik. The victorious British Redcoats stood by in military fashion, with a fallen American Minuteman at their feet.

Athletes Were Great, But Some Fans Weren't

By JODY PATROVSKY

(Editor's note: Jody Patrovsky of Antioch has been covering the Olympic Games for the Antioch News. This is another in her series of weekly articles.)

The Olympic Games have come and gone before I realized I was here.

I don't believe I have spent the past two weeks running around Montreal seeing 27 events that were actually being put into the history books.

I have the memories of seeing two women gymnasts, Nadia Comaneci and Nelli Kim receiving the perfect scores of 10.0.

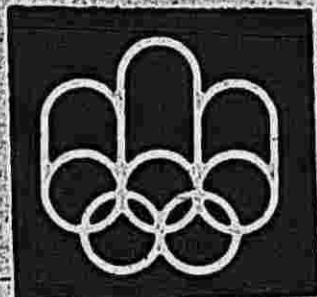

I was also able to see John Naber and Bruce Furniss swim for an Olympic record in the 200-meter backstroke and 200-meter freestyle heats.

In the Forum, I saw the woman's championship basketball game between the USSR and Japan and the presentation of the silver medal to the U.S. women.

THEN RIVALRIES began between the U.S. and Canada when they played next in the men's semi-final basketball game.

There was more rivalry in the Olympic stadium for the track and field events but this time Canada and the U.S. weren't the only ones competing. This time all the countries got into the act by cheering on their athletes and other favorites.

I saw some of these old and new stars competing for the gold - the fastest man and woman in the world, Hasely Crawford and Annegret Richter, and the best athlete in the world, Bruce Jenner.

ALL OF this excitement and enthusiasm sounds like these games were good, clean fun, but they weren't.

The crowds jeered when Nadia Comaneci didn't receive a 10.0 every time when she didn't deserve some of the ones she got.

The swimming fans seemed to be tired of the U.S. winning most of the time. The people in the Forum booed loudly everytime the USSR team scored and when they received the gold medal.

The final blow (at least for me from the U.S.) was Saturday afternoon when most of the 57,000 people in the stadium booed Dwight Stones when he received the bronze medal. This reaction should have been expected since he was booed every time he approached the high jump. Saturday's incident affected the attitudes of a lot of people, especially the Americans.

I was really disappointed in the people's lack of appreciation for any athlete who was competing in the Olympics.

When Sunday came, the final day of the Olympic Games, the whole atmosphere in the Olympic park was depressing. While there were 55,000 of us inside the stadium watching the first round of the Grand Prix jumping there was a small demonstration outside, protesting the problems between Taiwan and Red China. This problem ended the games as poorly as they had started.

Well, if you had an open mind, this demonstration could have been overlooked with the anticipation of the final round of the equestrian jumping and the extravagant closing ceremonies.

ONCE EVERYONE was inside the stadium the excitement began to grow. The infield where the field events and the soccer games were held less than 24 hours before was still filled with trees, shrubs, flowers and 14 obstacles from that morning's equestrian competition and was ready for the final round.

After the final round the medals were presented for the team grand prix jumping competition and then the field was cleared for the closing ceremonies. The ceremonies began on time but there was a change in the program. Just as 500 Canadian girls were beginning their performance, a male stalker ran onto the field and danced in the middle of the Olympic rings the girls had formed. The capacity crowd was appalled by such action and then applauded when the police took him away.

It was terrible that the beauty of the closing ceremonies had to be marred by some obnoxious person. By the time the girls had finished their colorful dance the incident was almost forgotten.

Then 75 Indians led the athletes into the stadium and raised five teepees in the center of the Olympic rings.

I don't know why Indians were chosen to perform in a predominately French Canadian province and also don't know why only six athletes from each nation could march in the parade when there were 30 nations absent.

After the games were officially closed, the Olympic flag lowered and the flame extin-

THE AUCTION at the annual Lions Club picnic attracted a huge throng again this year. Proceeds of the auction will be given to the Antioch Rescue Squad.

absolutely beautiful.

How do Antioch's Lions manage to make such a success of every project they tackle? We got some of the answers from Warren Polley, superintendent at the high school who was publicity chairman and barbeque ticket chairman for the picnic.

"What really makes our club tick is the way the men pitch in and work," said Warren. "Everyone I called on for help said 'yes' ... there was no problem at all, every man is just willing to work for the success of every club project."

"I thought we had a super day," Warren added. "It was a super crowd and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. People tell me they look forward to this picnic and always save the first weekend in August just for the Lions Club chicken barbeque and auction."

IT'S BIRTHDAY time for some of our favorite friends!

Today (Wednesday) is the birthday of LaVerne M. Woods, president of the First National Bank of Antioch. And tomorrow (Thursday) is Ellen Badame's birthday.

Dennis Volling celebrates on Saturday and guess who is going to be 4 years old on Saturday? Karen Lipinski, one of the most charming little girls in the entire world!

And a happy anniversary yesterday (Tuesday) to Dorothy and Harlan Ware.

Ellen and Nick Badame are the proud grandparents of Lon Matthew Garrison, who was born July 16. Dale and Nikki Garrison had the little boy, who weighed almost eight pounds, at Lake Forest Hospital. Lon had Tisha Rae, 6, and Sara Ellen, 14 months, anxiously waiting for him when he arrived home at Rt. 4, Box 291-A, Antioch. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. Jean Gibson of Gurnee.

Frank and Margaret Re-Cupido will be guests to Ben and Henrietta Alberg on a trip to Las Vegas during the coming weekend.

Peg and Don Leider of Antioch have arrived home from Tucson, Ariz., where they had a grand time visiting their daughter, Lenora, her husband and family, and also Art Price and his daughter Jean and family. Everyone looked great, Peg said.

WE ALMOST forgot another important birthday. Next Monday, Aug. 9, is the time for Linda Kriesant to make a wish. Linda, who lived in Antioch most of her life, is now near San Francisco, Calif. Friends can drop her a line at 20 Shelley Drive, Apt. 7, Mill Valley, CA 94941.

The tallest basketball player of all time was Amil Rached of Brazil who was 7 feet 7-5/8 inches tall.

Use Water With Care

Chicago (NFS) — Better management of the water that enters your home can save you money.

The following water-saving tips come from water works utilities and companies throughout the country, as compiled by A. Y. McDonald Mfg. Co., Dubuque, Ia., makers of products for the water works, plumbing and oil industries.

Check for leaks in faulty water valves and faucets. A pinhole opening only 1/32-inch in diameter will cause 170 gallons of water to be wasted in 24 hours with a water pressure of 40 pounds.

When you build a home, have pipe stubbed in where you'll be installing an appliance in the future. This saves the cost of breaking walls later on.

To prevent a "sweating" water closet in the hot summer, have a special mixing valve installed that will temper the cold water in the tank with warm water. Or buy a water closet with built-in insulation.

Don't waste water in the summer by running it to get to cool water. Keep a pitcher of cold water in the refrigerator.

CLC NEWS

"What kind of career should I consider?" is a question many persons, both young and older, are asking themselves these days.

To answer that question, says College of Lake County counselor Frank Nickels, "a person must consider not only potential careers, but also what his or her personal potentialities, interests and desired life-style might be."

"Career Exploration" is a Personal Development Seminar (PDS) designed to investigate careers, as well as assist the individual to better sell himself or herself to a potential employer," said Nickels. "This seminar is offered at various times and locations (both during the day and evening) and on two consecutive Saturdays - in order to accommodate the needs of potential students."

Registration is by phone through Thursday, and in person during central registration from Aug. 16 to 19.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS University and the National College of Education is offering a variety of graduate courses, such as "Art Drawing," "Drug Addiction and Children" and "Theories of Personality" at the College of Lake County during the fall semester.

Northern's classes start the week of Aug. 23 and National's begin Sept. 16.

For further information, call the CLC office of Community Services, 223-6601, extension 350 or 351.

THE COLLEGE of Lake County is offering for the first time a five-part course providing private instruction in piano, woodwinds, brass, percussion instruments and voice.

"Persons desiring to enroll must first be screened here," he said. "Please call me at 223-6601 to arrange for this interview."

Klein, Watson Star At Geneva Speedway

Bill Klein, Burlington, won his second SMAC super-modifieds stock car race in a week when he took the 25-lap feature race win at the Lake Geneva Raceway last Friday night.

His other win came on the second SMAC (Super-modified Asphalt Championship) series track at Waukegan Speedway on July 25.

Mini-Indy racers were in action too last Friday and events were won by Dick Hautzinger, Crystal Lake, and Rick Voss, Iowa.

In August, the Mini-Indy cars will run a season championship at the Lake Geneva Raceway. The distance and date are being discussed.

A STRING of victories that is going to be hard for any other driver to top at the Lake Geneva Raceway was lengthened Saturday night when Dave Watson, Milton, drove the new 1976 Nielsen Camaro to another clean sweep of events.

Each driver he passed was giving his car the upmost of speed and control, but Watson just waited out the opportunity and then drove by on the outside or inside at will. Vaughn Gerke and Dave Evans were close at the finish. It was Watson's fifth straight feature race win and his ninth of the season.

guished, the celebration began. The athletes' celebration of the closing of the Olympic Games was the most meaningful moment in the ceremony. They saluted the games of the 21st Olympiad by carrying a flag around the stadium - a flag which bore the Olympic rings and a peace sign.

Why can't their desire for peaceful Olympic Games be the incentive for all the nations of the world?

Hot Competition At Waukegan Oval

Darrell Dodd of Waukegan and Bill Klein of Burlington (Wis.) were the feature race winners Sunday night at the Waukegan Speedway.

Dodd came from the pole position to lead every lap in the first 25-lap segment of the super-modified midseason championship feature. A first lap pile-up brought out the red flag and caused a restart.

Finishing second in the first race was Dave Bliss, followed closely by Rick Lemanski.

Finishing second in the first race was Dave Bliss, followed closely by Rick Lemanski. Bob Robel spun out midway through the event.

The second modified feature was lined up according to the finish of the first feature, with the first 11 finishers inverted.

Fastest qualifier Ken Monroe moved into the lead on the second lap and looked to be the winner until Bill Klein started to put the pressure on and passed him in the 10th lap. Robel took second at that point and finished there.

Monroe held on for third money followed by Lemanski.

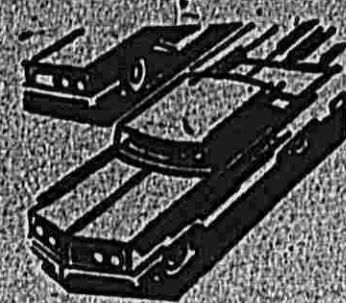

Bob Warren and Dodd, Klein's time of 6:04.21 was a new record for 25 laps.

NEXT SUNDAY night the popular "Beat-Your-Neighbor" races will be the added attraction on the modified and hobby card.

The "Tom and Ray" show was back at the Speedway Saturday night and when the smoke cleared Tom Jones was the winner of the Pepsi-Cola 50-lap midseason championship race for the late-model super stock cars.

When Jones wheeled his Camaro into victory circle, it was the 99th career feature win for the 33-year-old Northbrook driver who started his career in 1964 by winning the old O'Hare Stadium cadet division championship.

Ray Young was Jones' chief competition throughout the evening, winning the trophy dash and the fast heat race and shadowing Jones all the way to the checkered flag in the main event. In April and May at Waukegan "Tom and Ray" accounted for all the feature wins.

PROMOTER GORDON Sill has announced that all scouts in uniform will be admitted free to next Saturday night's late model and hobby stock car races at Waukegan Speedway.

The free "Scout Night" admission does not apply to scout leaders, but does apply to all boy scouts, girl scouts and other scouts, provided they come in uniform.

The scouts and other fans will get an extra treat Saturday night as the roll-over ramp will once again be pressed into service with at least one, possibly more, roll-over exhibitions slated.

Gates open at 6 p.m. Saturday night and the first race is at 8 p.m. The Speedway is two miles east of Marriott's "Great America" on Washington St. near Waukegan.

SPORTSMAN'S CORNER

Chain O'Lakes has been a pleasant mid-summer surprise as fishing continues to be good.

At Lake Marie channel cat, largemouth, northern pike and bluegill fishing is good to excellent, and Deep Lake anglers report plentiful catches of northern, largemouth and crappie.

Largemouth and channel cat are rated good at Lake Catherine, while best action at Cedar Lake is for bluegill and crappie.

SQUIRREL HUNTING season opens next Sunday in the state's southern zone and indications are that the hunt may be one of the better one's in recent years.

Last year's harvest of more than 1.9 million bushytails rated as only average, but biologists expect the excellent mast crop last fall in red and white oak tree groups will have triggered a boom in the squirrel population for this season.

Hours are the same as in 1975, from sunrise to sunset. Squirrels may be taken with shotgun or rifle, except in state-owned public shooting areas, where only shotguns may be used.

CAMPER CONGESTION is expected to increase this week at Chain O'Lakes State Park when 80 of 300 camping sites will be temporarily closed for construction.

The Turner Lake camping area at the south end of Chain O'Lakes, with 25 sites, and the 55-site Whitetail Hollow area at the north end of the park will be closed, so will the Hickory Grove picnic area.

Resurfacing of an access road to the Whitetail Hollow and Hickory Grove areas and expansion of the Turner Lake area to 80 sites will be done by Robinson Construction of Gurnee, the low bidder at $255,500.

Expansion of the Turner Lake area to 80 sites will not increase the total number of campsites in the park, according to park ranger Nick Egan, because Whitetail Hollow is to be converted to a picnic area. Whitetail Hollow is being converted from camping to a picnic and day use area because of its nearness to the main park road.

Robinson is to finish construction within 120 days, Egan said. Loss of the 80 sites will probably mean all remaining camping areas will be filled to capacity for the rest of the summer, he added.

Antioch Open Entries Due By Aug. 12

Entries for the first annual Antioch Open men's golf championship will close in eight days.

The deadline is Thursday, Aug. 12, and tournament officials said they absolutely will not accept any entries after that day.

Several golfers already have signed up and the committee is hoping for a field of between 60 and 100 golfers when the tournament starts on Sunday, Aug. 22, at the Antioch Country Club.

A FLOCK of entries are expected during this final week of registering.

Golfers should enter as soon as possible because only a limited number of riding carts are available and they will be reserved on a first come-first served basis.

An entry blank appears elsewhere in today's Antioch News. They also are available at the Antioch News' office, 950 Main St., at Antioch Country Club from pro Nick Marucci, and at the two Antioch banks.

It will be a 36-hole tournament and the entry fee is only $15. The final 18 holes will be played Sunday, Aug. 29, at Antioch Country Club. That's the schedule; 18 holes on Aug. 22 and 18 holes on Aug. 29.

THERE ARE three flights: the championship class for golfers who shoot in the 70s, the Class B flight for golfers who play in the 80s, and the Class C flight for those who shoot 90 or over. So all golfers will be competing against players of similar ability.

At the end of the tournament, trophies will be given to the top three players in each flight.

THERE ALSO will be merchandise awards. All money remaining after tournament expenses will be returned in prizes. The Antioch News and the Antioch Country Club, co-sponsors of the event, are running it on a non-profit basis. The committee includes Marucci, Jerry Pfarr of the Antioch News, Pres. Reckers, Rich Higgins, Jack Fields and Mike Haley.

The tournament is restricted to male golfers 16 years of age and over who either live or work in the townships of Antioch and Lake Villa.

It is the area's first championship tournament, with players competing without handicaps. Complete information appears in the entry blank.

Little League Stars Enter Tournament

Antioch's Little League tournament team will open play Saturday in the Bronco tournament at Waukegan.

About 20 teams are entered and Antioch was fourth two years ago.

The local stars' first game will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at Bevier Park, on Macaree and Yorkhouse roads. If Antioch wins Saturday it will play again at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 12, at the same park.

If Antioch loses its opener, it will play at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 8, at Victory Park, near Victory Memorial Hospital. The local team is managed by Dick Petersen and coached by Ted Poulos and Dave Zitkus.

Homan 4th At Wilmot

A favorite of Antioch auto racing fans, Tom Homan of Oakwood Knolls, placed fourth last Thursday in the 15-lap feature race for late-model sportsman stock cars at Kenosha County Speedway in Wilmot.

John Dog of Antioch was 10th in the race, won by Mike Klemko of Bristol.

DAVE BLISS took the lead from Waukegan driver Joe Kristan, on the last lap to repeat his 25-lap feature race win for super modified cars.

Kristan, who has had many engine problems this season, lost another chance for a first win when a radiator hose broke and caused him to slow on the final lap, giving the lead to Bliss.

Earlier Bliss had finished second in a close finish of a 10-lap heat race won by Carmen Menzardo, Lindenhurst.

George Todd, Milwaukee won the first heat following a spin out by leader Dick Vant. John Tierney, Lake Villa, came from the back to win the other heat over Bill Repsold, Spring Grove.

This week the super-modifieds return to Saturday night racing at Wilmot. Thursday will be used only for rain-dates for Saturday nights that are lost due to showers.

Vogler, a 26-year-old driver who is also active in the USAC sprint car division, drove a VW-powered midget into the lead on the restart of the 20th lap in the 40-lap feature.

The restart was necessary following a flip of Ken Wieland, Chicago, which caused drivers their only problems throughout the night. Wieland was not injured.

I have examined the balance sheet (arising from cash transactions) of the ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP LIBRARY as of January 31, 1976 and the related statements of cash receipts and disbursements for the year then ended. In my opinion, the attached statements present fairly the financial position at January 31, 1976, arising from cash transactions, and the related receipts and disbursements for the year then ended of the ANTIOCH TOWNSHIP LIBRARY in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied to municipalities on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The judging will continue throughout the day with sessions from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, 1:15 to 4 p.m. and 5:15 to 7 p.m.

Next Wednesday evening's grandstand attraction will thrill stock car buffs with a big "wreck-em, sock-em" demolition derby at 8 p.m. Admission to the grandstand is $2, with children under 12 admitted free if accompanied by their parents.

ONCE AGAIN, Senior Citizens Day will be held Thursday, Aug. 12, with persons 62 years of age and older admitted to the fairgrounds for the half-price of $1.

A feature of this year's Senior Citizens Day is a contest to find the oldest couple having resided in Kenosha county for at least 25 years and the oldest couple who have operated a farm in Kenosha county for at least 25 years. Entry blanks are available at the Fair Office and awards will be given to the winning couples.

The sign & is called the ampersand from the phrase "and per se and" or "& by itself means and." The character is believed to have originated as an abbreviation of the Latin et meaning "and." It is pronounced Am-per-sand.

ABC's of Travel

Domestic and International

By BARB CORBIN

One answer to the big question, "Why the Concorde?"

In our window we have a perfect model for those of you who might not have seen it - yet.

Flying, as I have been told, can be a lark or a letdown. I, myself, have not had the fortune of being on it, but I get questions every week; is it worth it?

With all the publicity on it one would think of the following visions "enduring decible-devastating sounds and mind-boggling vibrations."

None of these fantasies materialize. These early years of supersonic airline service more or less just comfortably cuts in half travel - time between destinations.

Right now most people will consider the high fare cost. These passengers are eager to minimize jet lag on business trips and willing to pay the price. The Concorde fares are about 10 to 15 percent above first class, which will hold many passengers back for a spell (along with the misconception of safety).

Give a year of operation and all of this will change. In the meantime, stop in or walk by and take a look at the Concorde in the window. It is an exact duplicate scale model of that flying about.

The Concorde is just like the jet itself when it was introduced to public transportation in 1958.

I was flying with American Airlines at the time and when a jet would be re-scheduled for a piston aircraft flight many people would walk away from the gate and wait for the next flight to that particular destination.

It is amazing what one gets accustomed to in such a short period of time.

Remember, for any of your travel needs or questions, stop in at your local travel agent - this is our business and we have knowledge of the product "travel."

Besides the price is right - FREE.

Rescue Squad Now Has Made 460 Calls

The Antioch Rescue Squad made 39 calls in the past two weeks, raising its total for the first seven months of this year to 460.

Eight of the recent calls were to assist at personal injury accidents. The rest were first aid calls.

In 29 of the 39 cases, the squad's volunteers had to rush victims to area hospitals.

August (Gus) Mancuso of Antioch, operator of the Standard Oil service station at Park Ave. and Main St., was the "first prize winner" at the Lions Club picnic Sunday.

He has his choice of a new car or $2,500 in cash. Any of four 1976 cars are available to him: a Chevrolet Nova, a Ford Maverick, a Dodge Dart or a Pontiac Ventura ... or the money.

"I still haven't made up my mind," said Gus Monday night. "I can't believe it. I'm still shocked. It's the first time in my life I ever won anything."

Second prize, a trip for two to Disneyworld in Florida, was won by Laura Oftedahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ev Oftedahl of Antioch. Laura works for a Beloit, Wis., radio station.

LIONS CLUB members called the dinner a huge success. Joe Patrovsky of Antioch Packing House, who prepared the chickens, said 3,000 chicken dinners were sold at $2.25 a plate. Also, 2,500 ears of corn were devoured by the throng that packed Williams Park for the annual event.

Among the many items sold at the picnic's auction were Antioch Bicentennial Commemorative Plates.

There is a limited edition of the plates, numbered up to 500. Mayor Robert C. Wilton bought plate No. 1, the State Bank of Antioch purchased plate No. 2 and the First National Bank of Antioch bought plate No. 3.

Mayor Wilton said he bought plate No. 1 for the village, because he thought the village should have it.

On Monday afternoon, LaVerne M. Woods, president of the First National Bank, presented plate No. 3 to Betty Lu Williams, director of the Antioch Township Library.

English contains more words than any other language—800,000—but it is doubtful that any individual uses more than 60,000!
